Dear Admiral

I am most grateful for your letter of September 7th and for your willingness to have me with you for a short time prior to the arrival of General Smith.

It was General Smith's view in which I heartily concur that it would be most valuable to him and to me if I might work with you for a short time to become acquainted with some of the problems which you have faced in your important job and to have the benefit of your experience.

If convenient for you, I should like to arrive on Tuesday morning, September 26th, and attempt to perform such duties as you might assign to me pending General Smith's arrival.

With best personal regards and again with many thanks for your kind offer of assistance,

Very sincerely,

W. H. Jackson

Dear Mr. Jackson:

General Smith has informed me that you have consented to serve as his Deputy and, although he does not intend to take over until about 1 October, if you feel that it would be of any assistance to either General Smith or yourself, I should be very happy if you cared to come down some time previous to that date. It may be that your own arrangements would not permit this but in case you should like to, please be sure that it would be a pleasure for me to have you here.

If there is any other way in which I can be of assistance to you, please do not hesitate to let me know.

Very sincerely,
